++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry and cloudy at first, turning brighter for most later.

Today:
Another dry but cloudy start, with the best chance of any sunny spells in the far west of the country. Generally brightening up by the afternoon as cloud gradually breaks up. Feeling warm in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Sunny spells through the evening in western areas, as cloud continues to thin, but becoming cloudier overnight elsewhere. Feeling much cooler under clear skies in the west. Remaining dry. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Friday:
Variable cloud through the day, with the sunniest conditions again across the west of the country. Some sunny spells for most though during the afternoon and evening. Staying dry throughout. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Largely dry with sunny spells on Saturday. Breezier on Sunday and Monday with some warm sunshine, but also a risk of showers, these perhaps turning heavy.
